U.F.W.A. Conference At Queenstown Friday, June 5th

The fifth U.F.W.A. District Conference of the Macleod Convention at Queenstown on Friday June 5th, with the constituency director, Mrs. R. R. McBride, presiding and Mrs. G. F. Kemper acting secretary. The conference at 11 o'clock with O Canada and the Woman's Club Creed followed by the appointment of Resolutions and reception committees.

Reports were given from Arrowwood, Milo, Berrywater, Mayview, Tenehat and Johnny Canuck locals. The report showed keen interest in Community and Provincial Sevens. Ninety-nine ladies signed the register.

A covered dish luncheon was served at noon in the W. I. Club Rooms.

An interesting feature of the afternoon program was a Rhythm Band number directed by Mrs. Ed. Lewendown with Mrs. J. M. Weiss at the piano. Later in the afternoon the Rhythm Band of the Swastika club gave an exhibition with Mrs. J. Jensen conducting and Miss Mary Fisher accompanying. This number received hearty applause from the audience and shows the value as well as the popularity of the hands at the present time.

There was splendid response to roll call "Hints and help on home making." Mrs. Lilo Anderson of Scandia, a natural and forceful speaker said a successful life depended upon honesty, tact, cheerfulness, efficiency and economy; these virtues going far toward making our own organization successful as well as our lives. The address was most inspiring.

Report on legislation was given by Mrs. Lynn Oldfield who chose as her subject "Legislation Affecting the Farmer." Mrs. Oldfield presented her subject in an able and unbiased manner.

Report on Education, "The New School Act," was given by Mrs. Wilson Oldfield. Mrs. M. H. Ward spoke on "The Revised Curriculum." Mrs. Steve (Continued on page 4)

Arrowwood Wins League Game

Not to be outdone in the Foot hills League the Arrowwood Panthers showed their way to a 7-1 victory over the highly rated Nanton club at Nanton last Friday night. Ernie Pitman allowed but 4 hits and pitched the Panthers to their first League victory to date. The boys hit well and fielded well to look like a classy team. Donald Vancil and Joe Dumka, youthful recruits to the club were the consistent hitters, while the catching by Mervin Norton was outstanding. Stobs the Nanton hurler, faced out a three base hit in the fifth inning but was unable to score. The Nanton boys keenly felt the effect of outfield errors, and though defeated, are favored league contenders. They draw a good crowd to their games at Nanton, so be on hand to see this classy club perform in Arrowwood on June 22. The teams—

Nanton—Buck as, Kitchon 4th, Mackenzie c, Bost 1st, Koch 2b, Larsen 3b, Jones rf, Howden cf, Stobs p, pinch hitters Giddes and Dick.

Arrowwood—M. Norton c, Sharpe cf, M. Bowman 1b, McCullough 2b, Pittman p, Stull lf, D. Bowman ss, Vancil 3b, Dumka rf.

The Arrowwood Sports Celebration

The first attraction on June 3rd was the softball game between the Gleichen Redwings and the local High School team. This encounter got underway at 9.30, with the usual rivalry existing between the two teams. The game produced some clever softball, which intermingled with the frequent error, made the game an exciting one to the fortunate fans who were present to witness the affair. The score ended 12-6 in favor of the Redwings.

Immediately following the softball game, the crowd gathered along the streets of the business section to watch the colorful parade which formerly opened the day's merriment. The band music, supplied by the Bluebird Serenaders' Orchestra, provided the necessary incentive for a successful parade. The parade entered the main business block of the town, then proceeded to the sports ground where the judging was completed. Attractive floats were entered by the following business firms:

Clifford Groceries, 1st; Alberta Pool Elevators, 2nd; Red and White Store, 3rd; W. J. Schultz, Phillips Hardware, Larsen Implements, West End Garage Colony Float.

The Educational Floats were particularly good with "The Oriental Float" from the "Y" and VIII room winning the honors. The Junior room was second with a very attractive float, which was guided along its way by a team of fine horses belonging to Mr. J. McCann. The Junior School was awarded honorable mention by the judges.

There were few entries in the decorated car class, but the entry of McCullough and Bowman was placed first to that of E. E. Jacques.

The best comic was awarded to Leroy Richards and John Clifford for "Ye Gids Ensemble" of what have you in an antiquated Henry Ford. Doris Archambault as "Felix" was placed second in the awards with Mervin Burris coming third.

The cowgirl section of the parade was an added feature this year, with Dorothy Brown and Erma Richards taking the honors in that order. The best cowboys were Raymond Lewendon and Jack McInenly.

In the decorated bicycle class the prize went to Doreen Hill, who exhibited a colorful and pretty bicycle. Douglas Ar-chambault placed was second with his tricycle.

The Indians were conspicuous by their absence, but Boy Chief presented himself to win first prize, while Margaret Ashmore was the best dressed squaw.

At the conclusion of the parade the baseball game between Queenstown and Carleton Place got under way. The game was the closest of the day, and after 7 innings play the Carleton club was on the long end of a 4-3 score. Both teams played good baseball and the final result was in doubt until the final ball was thrown in the seventh inning. Chuck Baker and Jack Adelman formed the Carleton battery, while Ab. Orellin and Jim Rubbelke performed that duty for Queenstown.

Upon the conclusion of this ball game several open athletic events were run off the grandstand in front of the grandstand. The fastest runner under the 100 yard dash proved to be Percy Stull.

The second ball game of the day was another close and interesting game, with heavy hitting being a feature of the game. The Arrowwood club made their first appearance in their snappy new uniforms, but ill luck came with them. The Norton brothers, Clarence and Mervin, formed the battery for the Panthers, while Jim Rubbelke and Jack Adelman took care of that duty for Carleton. The features of this game were the two home runs by Bill Dawson of the Carleton Club who drove the ball out of the park on both occasions.

Teams—Arrowood—C. Norton p, M. Norton c, M. Bowman 1b, McCullough 2b, D. Bowman ss, D. Vancil 3b, Cary lf, Mackie cf, Archambault rf.

Carleton—Addams c, J. Rubbelke p, Cole 2b, Crow 3b, Dawson cf, Gherke 1b, Giles rf, Forester lf, E. Orellin ss.

Score by Innings: Arrowwood 0 1 1 0 1 2 0-5 Carleton 0 0 2 2 0 0 x-7

Following the second game several more grandstand attractions were run. The relay race, open to the public was of much interest with the local entry of D. Vancil, M. Bowman and H. McCullough, showing the way to the other contestants. The interesting greased pig race was a thriller and the spectators had to admire the agility of the slippery porker.

The Sports Committee report that the athletic events were a decided success. Fifty-two contestants under ten years of age were on hand to reap the reward of 5¢ each. Features of the sports were the superiority of Ruby Hill in the ladies events, and George Rottie's broad jump of 21 ft. Walter Steiners' team was the only one to be on hand for the horse pulling contest.

Arrowwood Boxers Make Clean Sweep

In the first boxing match ever to be staged in Arrowwood the three local performers, Bill Wilson, George Roberts and Doug Oliver decisively swept aside their opponents, thereby winning the honors of the day. A fair sized crowd was on hand to witness the card which was presented to theistic fans in the local curling rink.

Commencing the evenings performance was a neat display of boxing put on by the Larsen brothers, Larry and Jack. These midge boxers gave a noteworthy display when one considers the fact that the boys and the fans were loud in their applause when the decision was declared a draw. A shower of coins which fell in the ring at the conclusion of the bout was highly appreciated by the boys.

The second bout between Doug Oliver of Arrowwood and Jim Rubbelke of Queenstown was one which created much interest, it being the first performance in the ring of each of the contestants. The bout was a scheduled four round affair, but Doug had the better of the argument from the first bell with the result that in the third round the towel was thrown in to Rubbelke thus enabling Oliver to win his first fight by a technical KO.

There was action galore when Charlie Smith of Gleichen swapped blows with Reg Willis of Gleichen for the third attraction of the program. This bout went the full limit of 6 rounds both men delivering many effective punches but neither being able to come through with the concluding blow. Both boxers found going plenty tough but Willis absorbed the most punishment, especially to the face. The decision, a popular one, was awarded to Charlie Smith.

The many admirers of George Roberts were on hand to see the semi-windup affair between him and Batling Jack Thompson from Calgary. Some clever boxing was displayed in this bout with both fighters performing in a cagy and canny manner at all times. In the fourth round Roberts came out with that grim determination which is so characteristic of him when he is in the ring, and short order, Thompson was beaten into submission, finally taking the count of ten to conclude the bout.

Lack Of Purchasing Power

One often hears the comment that the prosperity of the cities and towns is dependent upon the prosperity of the farmers, but little is heard of its corollary, namely that the well being of the farmer hinges upon the prosperity of the urban centres, though the one is unquestionably as true as the other.

Possibly the latter has not been heard so frequently in Western Canada as the former because, until very recent times, the farmers' income has been largely derived from an exportable surplus of grain. Under such circumstances the consumer of the bulk of Western Canadian farm products was geographically remote and the fact that the affluence or otherwise of the consumer was of considerable import was but dimly perceived, if recognized at all.

However, this relationship between the Western Canadian producer and the consumer of his products has undergone a change in the past few years and indications are not lacking that the change may be even more accentuated in the next few years.

In the first place, during the past half dozen or so of depression years a substantial percentage of Western Canadian farmers have had little or no income to boast about. Because of a succession of dry years many of them had no crops to sell and others who reaped some wheat or other grain have not received sufficient price to render their work remunerative, partly because of the closing of former markets and partly because of the existence of a big carryover which could not be liquidated, except at tremendous loss.

As a result of their predicament many farmers, even with conditions somewhat more promising, have reduced their acreages sowed to bread grains and are endeavoring to increase their output of other products, including livestock, some of which are finding an outlet to a limited degree in overseas markets and others which, on account of their nature or because of lack of processing facilities, must necessarily be disposed of in local centres.

In the case of those products which are exportable, it is necessary to find new markets or expand existing markets. In the case of products which must be disposed of in local markets, consumption capacity must be increased if the farmer is to be able to dispose of such commodities at a price to yield him a profitable return.

Too frequently, in the past two or three years, farmers have had the experience of hauling or shipping produce to local centres only to find themselves faced with the choice of disposing of them at ruinously low prices or of taking them home again, unsold.

The irony of the situation is that in many cases, perhaps in all of them, the produce would have been welcome in the home of the potential local consumers but, because of conditions which made it necessary for the farmer to raise such produce, these people were unable to buy it, or only at such prices as to render the transaction unprofitable to the producer. In other words, the trouble was lack of purchasing power.

There is no question that local markets are capable of consuming a great deal more local produce if the consumer had the necessary purchasing power and this brings us back to the original statement that the well being of the farmer is dependent upon the prosperity of the urban centres, and so far as Western Canada is concerned, this is much more true than it was a few years ago.

If new local markets can be opened up and the purchasing power of the residents of existing local markets can be increased the problem of the farmer will be at least partially solved.

Fortunately there is every reason to hope that the next few years will see the development of new local markets with the discovery of mineral wealth in the northern areas and its development, a process which is being greatly accelerated at the present time.

This, coupled with an increasing influx of tourists from other provinces and the United States give ground for belief that new markets for local products are in the making. That the latter has real potentialities, at present principally enjoyed by Eastern Canada and British Columbia, is evidenced in the recent publication of statistics showing that more money was spent in Canada by tourists last year than was realized by the sale of Canadian export wheat.

As for the expansion of existing local markets that is, as already stated, largely a question of purchasing power and how this purchasing power is to be increased is a question which is giving rise to a great deal of thought. Can it be done by some overt action or can it only be brought about by the ordinary evolution of economic processes?

One quiet student of affairs, whose name has never appeared in print and perhaps never will, suggested to the writer recently that it could be brought about almost overnight if ten or a dozen of the big industrial leaders of the nation would gather around a table and agree to increase salaries and wages all round. "Merchants," he said, "give more thought to the purchase and display and sale of their commodities, but little or none to the other half of their business—the ability of the consumer to buy."

No Time For Number

Bystander—"Did you get the number of that car that knocked you down, madam?"

Victim—"No, but the hussey who was driving it wore a three-piece tweed suit, lined with Canton crepe, and she had on a pair of shoes that, trimmed with antique cherries."

Just wishing for things to happen never gets you anywhere.

Natives of southern China raise a great deal of rice, but seldom eat it; while peasants of northern China rarely see rice.

Maintain National Credit

By Meeting Obligations To The Full Extent Of Capacity

Members' Association meeting at Quebec, lent approbation to the suggestion by their president, W. S. Morden of Toronto, that Canada, by application, of "common sense, and some old-fashioned methods, should anticipate the coming years with confidence and satisfaction."

The president, in a comprehensive annual review of world economic conditions presented at the annual convention, noted improvements throughout the world generally during the past year.

He was optimistic of the future but with his optimism came a note of warning against too ready spending and loose borrowings by governments.

"One feature in connection with the increase of public debt that is giving concern to many individuals and business men," he said, "is the increasing proportion of government obligations that is being acquired by banking institutions. It is of course a sound banking theory that when business and industry are depressed and banking funds are abundant, government securities form an ideal investment."

"This theory assumes that when industry and business revive and there is a greater demand on the banks for loans, the government securities can be readily disposed of to the investing public. But it is a necessary implication that the amount of security so held should not be greatly in excess of the capacity of the investor to absorb. It is also widely felt that if our various governments had to look to insurance loan and trust companies and private investors as the chief purchasers of their securities the increased difficulty of floating loans would operate as a curb on borrowing."

Mr. Morden said the aim of Canada should be to maintain national credit "by meeting obligations to the full extent of capacity, refunding our debt at lower rates of interest whenever opportunities occur, and reducing expenses."

Steady improvement in conditions made it appear "reasonable to hope that the world, as a whole, is gradually recovering from the great depression, which culminated the progressive economic and trade disaster that followed and had their origin in, or were at least precipitated by, the dislocation of the war."

New Type Electric Bulb

Steam Light Latest Development In Modern Illumination Methods

A cigarette can be lighted in a jet of steam made by a new type of electric light bulb invented in the development department of the Nela Park laboratory of the General Electric Company in East Cleveland, Ohio.

Details of the new development have been made public. The "steam" light is one result of a revolutionary change in structure of electric light bulbs, made by a new art of welding metal to glass.

The steam bulb is about the size of the large house lamp, but the pool over its tungsten filament is a copper coil. This coil develops a jet of steam the size of a lead pencil almost instantly after the light is switched on. A piece of paper held in the jet curls up, smokes and turns to black ash. The steam with this burning power has a temperature of 1,100 degrees Fahrenheit.

At a court function, we are told, Premier Mussolini stooped and picked up a handkerchief which King George VI had dropped. The king's handkerchief had dropped, and was profusely thanked by the monarch. Well, His Majesty should be grateful. It is about the only thing left he can stick his nose into, states the Windsor Daily Star.

Prince Kides Bicycle

When a Mongol prince, descendant of a long line of hardriding horsemen, abandons his pony for a bicycle, it is news in the front-page columns of Kweihwa, Inner Mongolia. Prince Khang, a leading Mongol dignitary, shocked his compatriots recently by appearing on the main street of Kweihwa on a bicycle.

Forgot To Forget

"One of our newspaper friends says the Windsor Daily Star brings a good story of the absent-minded professor who had suddenly found himself at a dinner which he didn't want to attend. The professor rambled on something like this: 'I didn't mean to attend this affair tonight, but I meant to forget to come, and I forgot to forget.'"

Was Partly Modern

Proclamation Of Coronation Date Broadcast To Empire

With forms and ceremonies inherited from the immemorial past, the date of the coronation of King Edward VIII was duly proclaimed in London. But modern science and usage intruded, even into medieval pageantry.

When the Earl Marshal, Duke of Norfolk, and his attendants stopped out upon the hoary walls of St. James's Palace, there was immediately in front of them a microphone to carry to the ears of the kingdom at large all that was said in the King's name. The proclamation set the date of the coronation as May 15, 1937. The date was announced in a special issue of the London Gazette.

While a fanfare blared from the silver trumpets of the Horse Guards the Garter Principal King of Arms, with white-gloved hands, unrolled a long scroll nearly a yard wide. In sonorous tones he began his reading. The King's guard of Grenadiers stood at attention, and the great crowd hushed into silence. By means of amplifiers, every sentence was heard distinctly to the farthest limits of the throng. Farther away on the battlemented ivy-clad walls of the palace, stout members of the King's personal household.

Sir Gertrude read the proclamation. "Declaring His Majesty's pleasure touching his royal coronation and the solemnity thereof." The reading took nearly 10 minutes. It opened with a reference to "the favour and blessing of almighty God" and spoke of "our princely care for the preservation of the law and the inheritance of our loving subjects."

Big Prize For Air Race

Race From England To South Africa In September

Sir Alan Cobham announced that J. W. Schlegel, South African millionaire, has given £10,000 ($50,000) prize money for the proposed race from England to South Africa to coincide with the British empire exhibition at Johannesburg.

Schlegel is promoting the race with Cobham, himself a pioneer long-distance flyer, as consultant. The Johannesburg exhibition opens Sept. 15 and will run until Jan. 15, 1937. The air race proposal has the approval of the British air ministry and the South African government has promised to give it all attention.

Entire organization of the race will be undertaken by the Royal Aero Club of Great Britain and participation will be limited to British empire pilots and aircraft. In this respect it will differ from the London-to-Mombasa race of 1934 which was open to all-empire.

Cobham said Schlegel's motive in arranging the event was the promotion of commercial aviation and the furtherance of air interest on the part of citizens of the British empire. But chiefly, he said, the race was intended to focus the attention of the Johannesburg exhibition.

Cobham added the race would be held in the day, and it was not stated when it will be possible to open a weekend in Johannesburg. Possibly, he predicted, the flight will be accomplished in two days.

Feather In Your Cap

Phrase Originated From Custom That Is Almost Universal

This phrase means that something is an honor to you. The allusion is to the very general custom in Asia and among the American Indians of adding a feather to the headdress for every enemy slain. The ancient Egyptians, and many others had a similar custom, and it is still usual for the English sportsman who kills a fox to stick a cock's tail in his cap. The custom in one form or another seems to be almost universal. In Hungary at one time some might wear a feather but he who had slain a Turk, and it will be remembered that when Gordon quelled the Maiting rebellion he was honored by the Chinese government with the "yellow jacket and peacock's feather."

The new Pelletier Comet, first to be found this year and first to be visible to the unaided eye since 1927, will swing into the range of vision late in July, Harvard College Observatory announced.

Still 120,000,000 miles from the earth, the comet has already interested its apparent brightness from ninth to eighth magnitude in four days and by the end of July, before it starts to fade, it will be seen at sixth magnitude and within 20 million miles.

Speculation was rife as to the ultimate winner of the main event between Bill Wilson of Arrowwood and Kinerva of Calgary, but it took Young Wilson only a part of the first round to conclusively prove his superiority over Kinerva. Wilson's offensive tactics from the outset so completely bewildered Kinerva that he was unable to get in one effective blow and with dynamite behind every blow, Wilson dealt out a lacing which sent Kinerva to the canvas before the gong ended the first round. Both boys weighed in practically the same, but Wilson's advantage in height, reach and offensive method of fighting were the decisive factors which enabled him to gain such a quick but popular knock out.

The bouts were refereed by B. Currie of Arrowwood. Rubelke of Queenstown was official timekeeper and A. Campbell of Cluny and Major Lewis of Gleichen were judges. Reidar Westwood and Bill Wilson produced the card while Omar Larsen introduced the fighters.

In the sixth inning the visiting nine hit frequent and hard to start the game on its way. Costly errors by the Arrowwood team who seemed to falter all at once enabled Claresholm to run up a 13-4 victory.

THE GREAT ROBBER

Weeds are the great robbers of the farmer's income. Careful experiments made by Government Experimental Farms and Universities reveal that on our Western Prairies weeds take a greater toll than drought, rust, insects and plant diseases all put together.

Early June summerfallowing and clean cultivation destroy weeds, preserve precious moisture, so help to increase farmers' incomes and profits.

U.F.W.A. Conference

Williams read a paper on "Peace," showing the present situation and suggesting how we, as women, could cope with the problem. "In the Field of Health" was the title of a paper given by Mrs. G. Forest Komper telling of the many new discoveries, inventions and developments in scientific fields pertaining to health.

Mrs. John Williams, convener of Home Economics, gave a talk on "Cake Making" and passed on a cake recipe for which she is noted. The report on "Beautification and Horticulture" was given by Mrs. M. DeWitt. Many helpful suggestions for flower gardens were given.

A resolution concerning the observance of Goodwill Day was passed, also one protesting the sentences imposed on the Ottawa trekkers.

Mrs. Grace Mensinger domonstrated the art of Print Pottery, Mrs. Huribest some new uses of crepe paper and egg-hell flowers.

A solo by Mrs. C. G. Taylor and humorous readings by Mrs. L. Oldfield and Marilyn Bertrand added greatly to the success of the conference.

Officers for the coming year were elected: Mrs. McBride as President, Mrs. Neal Campbell Vice-President and Mrs. G. Forest Komper, Secretary.

The Conference closed with the singing of the National Anthem. At the close of the meeting tea was served to well over eighty.

The Conference Committee are very grateful to Messrs. Lawther, Lohd and White for their contribution towards a successful Conference.
